

FAQ 2

Mid-Tribulationism ?

Q #2 Isn't this Final Trumpet Rapture Gathering position of yours simply another Mid-Tribulationist end-time position?

No, it clearly is not. We have already addressed this concern on the FinalTrumpet.org site, but here's a short but sufficient answer:

The Final Trumpet Rapture Gathering Position (in short, FTRG) is not a revision of "Mid-Tribulationism" due to the following:

- ~ The end of days are not based solely on a 7-year week, as is typically defined ("The Tribulation Week" as some would incorrectly term it or "Daniel's 70th Week")
- ~ The FTRG presents a different chronology concerning the days before Christ's return
- ~ While it is "Post-Trib" in view, it is NOT a typical Post-Trib view given the Bible definitions used - "Wrath," "Tribulation," "Daniel's 70th Week" and other key terms.
- ~ It discerns a three-phase process of Jesus Christ's Return (see proposal)

Due to the above differences—it's important to understand these differences are huge—the Final Trumpet Rapture Gathering position holds a very different view than that of early "Mid-Tribulation Rapture" positions. This is once again tied to the fair appeal to understand this position before responding to it.
